New Appointment at Wycombe law firm

Reynolds Parry Jones, one of Wycombe's leading law firms, have announced the appointment of Carl Selby as an assistant solicitor in its Company/Commercial department.

Carl is aged 24 and was brought up in the Wycombe area. He obtained a degree in law from Durham University, graduating in 2005. From there he went on to study at the College of Law in London before accepting a training contract with Reynolds Parry Jones in September 2006, qualifying as a solicitor on 1 September this year.

Senior partner Richard Hughes said "We are delighted to welcome Carl as a permanent member of our team. During his training period with us he demonstrated a clear and incisive grasp of legal issues and we are confident he will offer a major contribution to the service we offer to our company and commercial clients."

Carl is a keen and active sportsman with cricket and golf as his main passions. He also enjoys watching soccer (Arsenal) and rugby (Saracens).
